MND Budget Debate 2014

From plans to improve longer-term market stability, provide stronger housing support, and ideas to make every town a better town - MND’s Committee-of-Supply debate this year charts our plans for working with Singaporeans for a sustainable, highly liveable home and city.

Beyond housing towns, we will also work with stakeholders to sensitively enhance the natural environment of Pulau Ubin, and realise our vision of making Marina Bay a ‘People’s Bay’. Raising construction productivity remains a priority for us as well, and we will be doing more to ensure our food security resilience, for example through reducing food wastage.

Catch up on MND COS by clicking through to read on, or visit our microsite for easy-to-understand graphics on the announcements which you can share with your family & friends.

Home Ownership: 50 years on

Over 80% of S’poreans own their flats, and public housing is an instantly identifiable symbol of the S’porean way of life. To commemorate 50 years of home ownership, we take a look back at the major milestones of Singapore’s home ownership journey.

Longest Nature Way Opens

At 13km, Singapore’s longest Nature Way links the Bukit Timah & Central Catchment Nature Reserve with the Western Catchment Area. Tengah Nature Way brings the total length of the green corridors to 38km. Do watch out for the movement of animals along the route!

DMP 2013: Behind the Scenes

Behind URA’s Draft Master Plan 2013 are planners, model-makers, and other stakeholders who come together to create a plan designed to meet Singapore’s changing needs. We give you a sneak peek into the work involved. Kudos to our URA colleagues!

Boost for Cycling

Under the National Cycling Plan, new cycling paths will be added to form over 700km of cycling paths and park connectors by 2030! There will also be standardised signs along the routes, clearly demarcated crossings and more bicycle racks. Look forward to a healthier lifestyle!