Dear Built Environment Professionals,

Featured as one of the key events in the Singapore Construction Productivity Week 2014, over the years, the Build Smart Conference has firmly established itself to be the leading event in the region to share with industry practitioners advanced technologies and effective methodologies to reduce wastage and complete development projects faster and efficiently. Close to 2,000 participants from the region had benefitted from the conference and gained insights into better deployment of resources and improved financial position.

Come October 2014, the Building and Construction Authority (BCA) of Singapore will be organising the Build Smart Conference 2014 from 13 to 15 October 2014. The conference and workshop will also provide industry practitioners great opportunity to network with participants/speakers from different regions including Asia, Australasia, Europe, Middle East, Southeast Asia, USA; and to be updated with latest industry trends and technologies. Appended is the overview of the conference for your reference.

We would like to invite you to register for this conference early – “Early Bird” discount and Special Package Fee will be available for registration before 19 September 2014.

Thank you.

Regards,
