8 October, 2012

Dear Sirs,

Subject: To ACES: INVITATION: Chemical Standards Exchange 2012 - "Building Confidence with Standards" - 2 November 2012

The Chemical Standards Committee will be organising a Chemical Standards Exchange Seminar on 2 November 2012: “Building Confidence with Standards”. We are pleased to invite you and ACES members to this seminar. I attach the brochure for your kind dissemination to your relevant ACES members.

Standards play an important role in facilitating the application of technology, the creation of new markets and the growth of existing markets. The Chemical Standards Committee (CSC) intends to feature the industry experience in achieving these goals.

The achievement of health, safety and quality through National and International Chemical Standards for the chemical industry will also be shared. Current key industry projects will be presented by the Chemical Standards Committee and its technical committees to showcase the standards to their businesses.

The shared experiences by key industry players in this interactive seminar would provide key learning points for other industry players.
