Dear Sir/Madam,

BCA CONSTRUCTION PRODUCTIVITY AWARDS 2013

We are pleased to announce that the Construction Productivity Awards (CPA) 2013 are now open for nomination.

The CPA has seen strong support from the industry since its launch in 2010. 61 awards have been conferred over the past 2 years in the various awards categories. Moving forward, the CPA 2013 has been enhanced. The CPA-Projects which is a project level award will remain. To give more focus on the productivity contributions of the various stakeholders and to better recognise them, the CPA-Best Practices & Innovations and the CPA-VAP would be combined under a new category of firm-level awards called CPA-Advocates. The CPA–Advocates would assess the specific efforts made by developers, consultants and builders towards designs, construction methods, processes and/or technologies adopted that have significant productivity impact on their projects. In addition, their actual productivity performance, both in terms of value-added productivity or physical productivity of their projects will be considered.

More information on the CPA 2013 can be found in the BCA website via http://www.bca.gov.sg/Awards/CPA/cpa.html. The closing date for the submission of nominations is 17 January 2013.

We will appreciate it if you can help to circulate the information to your members.

Thank you.
