NUS ENGINEERING LECTURE SERIES
CELEBRATING PEAKS OF EXCELLENCE & THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

The Faculty of Engineering, NUS has been hosting the prestigious “Engineering Lecture Series” to highlight important sea change developments in education and technology which will affect the way we work and live. The Lecture Series was instituted to celebrate our peaks of excellence and thought leadership in the Faculty and showcase engineering excellence. Each lecture in the series is delivered by a Professor in the Faculty who has made distinguished contributions in research, education or practice in engineering. The lecture will be for 45 minutes followed by a 15-minute Question & Answer session.

Professor Wang Chien Ming, Director of the Engineering Science Programme and the Global Engineering Programme, Faculty of Engineering, has been invited to give the 9th lecture. He will speak on “Very Large Floating Structures for Space Creation on the Sea” on 7 October 2016 at 7:00 pm in the Engineering Auditorium, NUS Faculty of Engineering.
